Exploration — expansion — extension — development . . .

. . . of one's self. The individual strives to further his knowledge, goals, and beliefs according to his own ideals.

... as an individual. Each person aspires to retain his identity in a group while offering his knowledge in exchange for that of others.

. . . towards one another. Companions attain an understanding and full realization of each other through the communication of their ideas, opinions, and emotions.

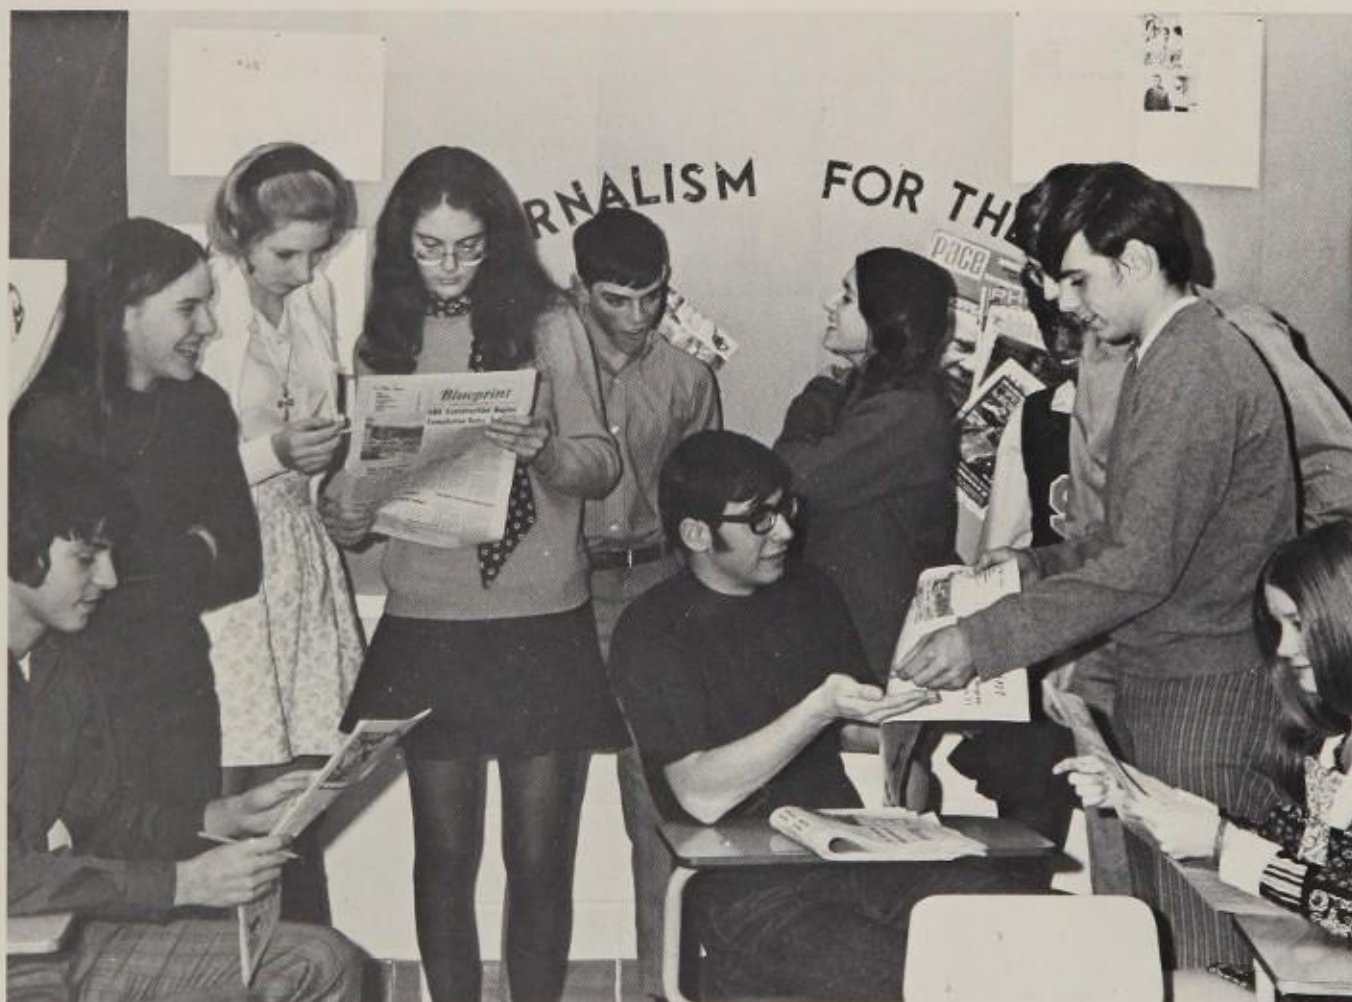

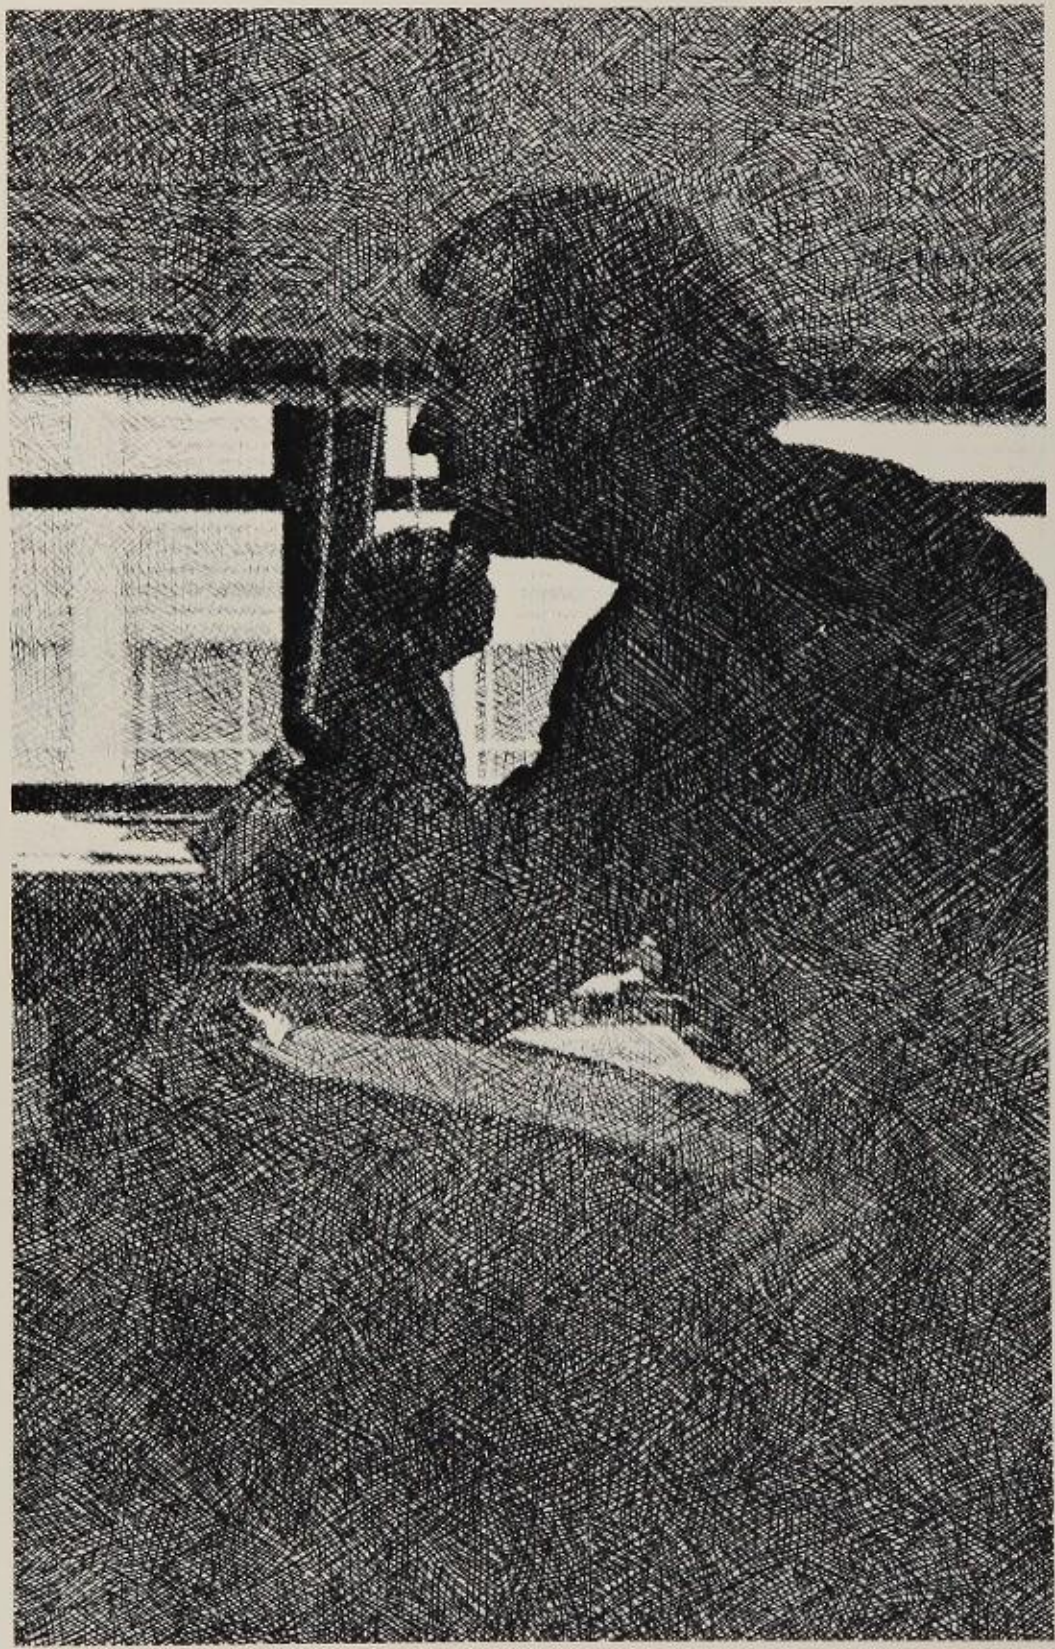

... with one's peers. People of similar interests join together to pursue them. From these discussions arise further exploration and enlightenment ... of one's self ... of others ... of humanity ...

FACULTY

Faculty

Each member of the faculty endeavors to impart an awareness of the world as well as that knowledge necessary to the individual. Offering their services as sponsors, advisors, and friends, they guide students in their preparation for the future. The satisfaction which each instructor derives from these tasks makes their efforts seem worthwhile.

Dr. Thomas P. Marshall

Your high school years should be a time of educational and personal preparation and development. As you seek to develop your talents and abilities you should also strive for maturity of thought and action.

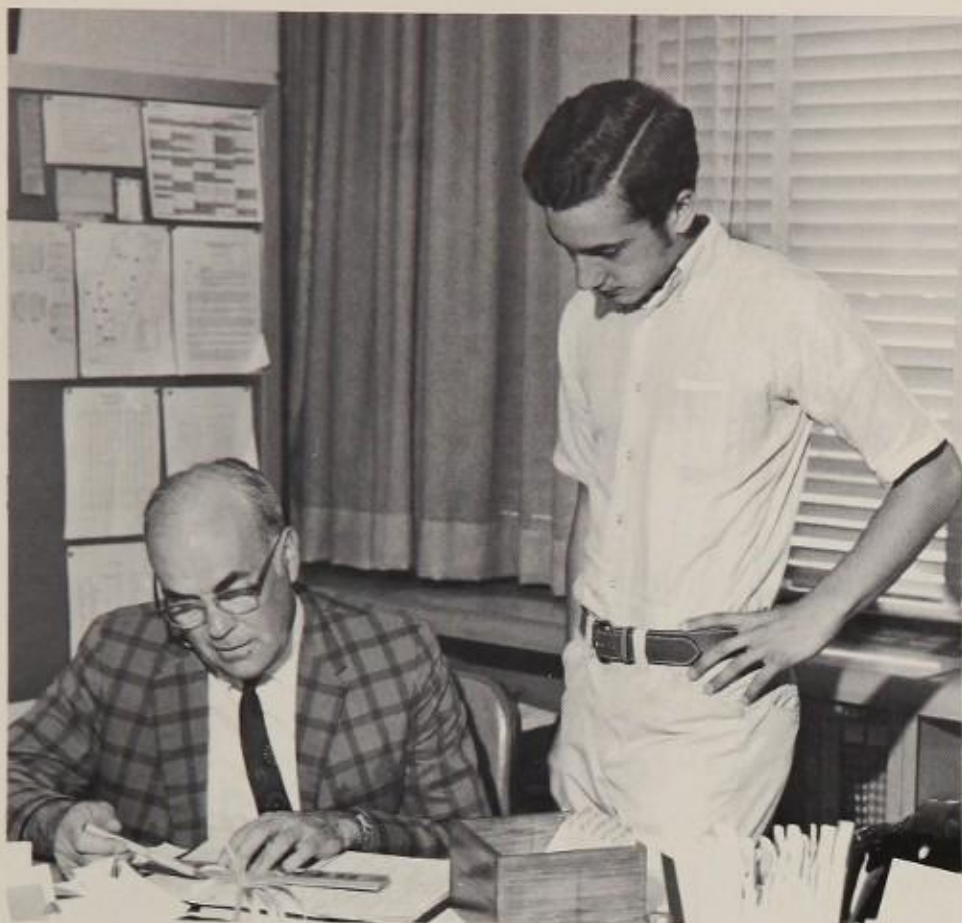

Decision making is an essential element in the process of growth and identity. It is the ability to exercise wise judgment in making decisions that marks the mature individual.

The first requirement for wise decisions is to have established personal standards or values that give direction to your choices. The next requirement is that you develop the ability to collect and review the essential facts with honesty and objectivity.

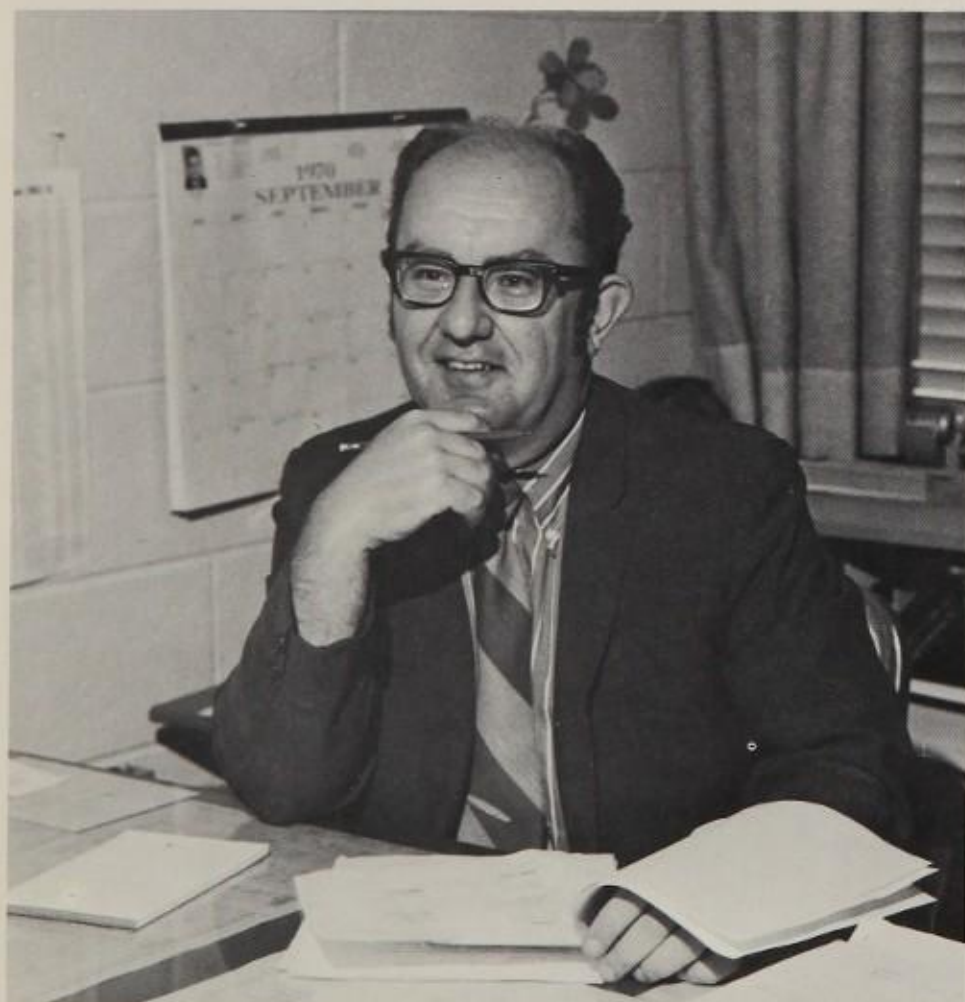

As your ability to make and carry through on wise decisions increases, your opportunities to make your own decisions increase. Self direction is therefore achieved through the process of growth and the exercise of good judgment.

Mature and responsible citizenship is one of the major goals of our educational efforts at Springbrook.

ACTIVITIES

Activities

The activities of a school year require student involvement in every phase for complete success. The initial organization and planning are only rewarded by the intense effort made by each participating student during and after the actual event. Each student derives a different satisfaction which results in enjoyment for the whole.

Elva Fera swings to the sounds of the Young Senators.

A memory book adds a final touch to a perfect evening.

Alumni Toomy Higdon and Dennis Barrett discuss old times as Sharon Barnett looks on.

Homecoming

Homecoming this year provided a celebration of Springbrook's tenth anniversary as well as the annual reunion of students and alumni. In accordance with this tenth year celebration, the theme was "The Decade of the Devils." The Friday night hang-up and pep assembly aroused school spirit, and provided fun for all. Saturday's events began with the Homecoming parade, each float echoing a different interpretation of the theme. Overwhelmed by the strength of the county co-champion Wheaton H. S., the Blue Devils were defeated, 32-0. However, the dance with music by the Young Senators more than compensated for the afternoon's disappointment. Together, the students who conceived, organized, and carried out the activities of the weekend, achieved a memorable Homecoming.

The pom-pom "girls" spell out their enthusiasm for the Blue Devils.

The mock cheerleaders hang a Walter Johnson Spartan in effigy.

"The devil made me do it!"

Josephine Maron proves his prowess as a pom-pom "girl."

"Reeser" vibrates with the spirit of Homecoming.

"Raindrops keep falling on my head..."

Coaches Spicer and Estey beam their approval as the "team" goes through their exercises.

Devil Bruce Marcus and cheerleader Nancy Henry express delight at the halftime activities.

The crowd displays mixed emotions toward the Homecoming game.

Fund Raising

To facilitate the working of each Springbrook club as a separate unit, the various organizations sponsor fund raising activities within the school. These funds are raised in various ways, selling anything from baked goods and candy canes to stuffed animals and key chains. The organizations also sponsor several drives, the proceeds of which are given to needy causes, such as March of Dimes.

In honor of the school's birthday each student received a cupcake for dessert during lunch.

Student Government Association has a successful election day bake sale at Jackson Road Elementary.

Junior Class scoops ice-cream as one of their many fund raisers throughout the year.

This year, Springbrook mugs, previously popularized by the Key Club, were successfully sold by seniors.

The senior breakfast provides an opportunity for students to socialize.

Senior Breakfast

Promoting class spirit and raising funds, the senior class breakfast allows students to eat and socialize in a relaxed atmosphere.

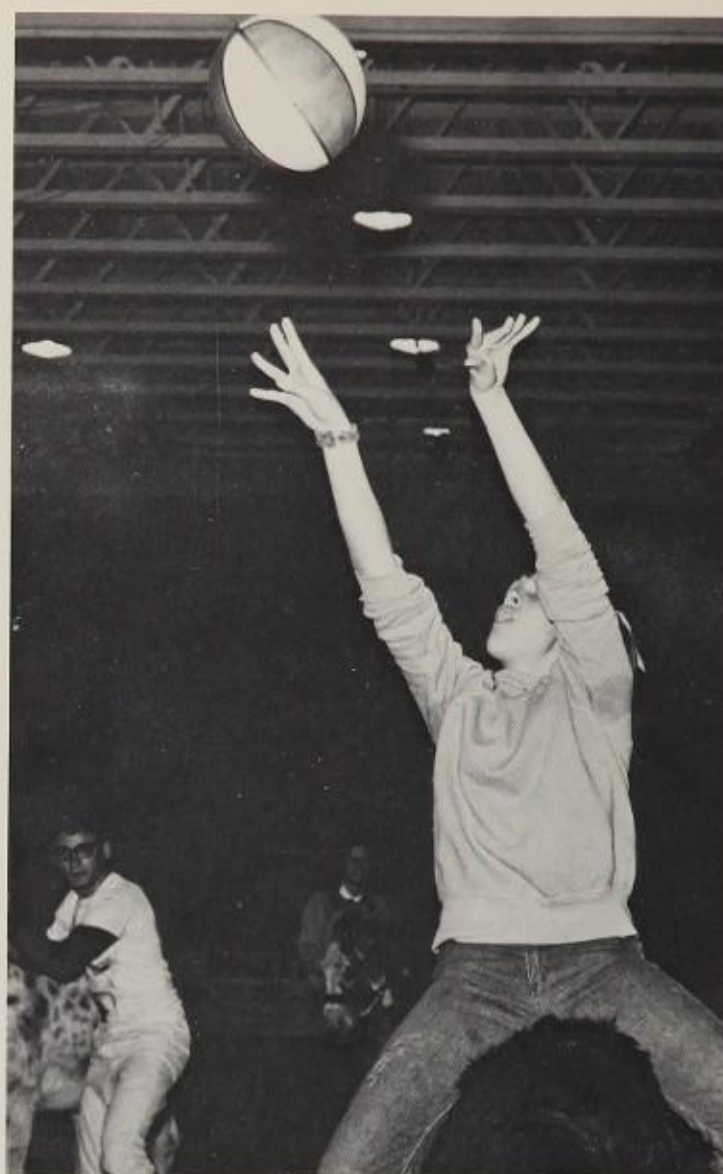

Ellie Giraldi enjoys a roll and juice before going to class.

Jim Pegg gingerly offers Mary Hamerski a donut.

Mounted on a fearless steed of black, Russ Fleury rides on and off and on and . . .

Beth Reese proves that neither mule nor man will keep her from her goal.

When it comes to a tug of war, the donkey proves which one is the ass.

Beauty and the beast . . .

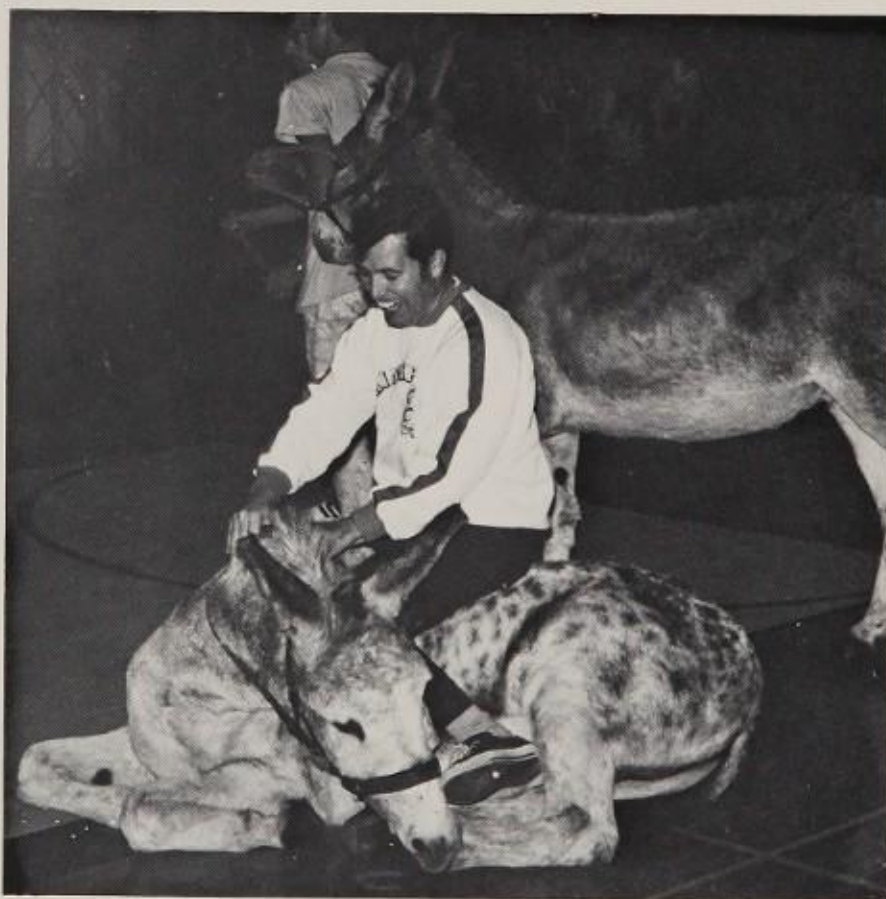

Donkey Basketball

Springbrook's first donkey basketball game, sponsored by the senior class, was a complete success, both socially and financially. Kicking hooves and surprised expressions combined to form a unique experience for both the courageous players and the appreciative spectators.

In the three matches played, the senior girls defeated the women's faculty, the men's faculty forfeited to the senior boys, and the senior boys were victorious over the senior girls. Due to the stubbornness of both the riders and fearless steeds, scores were low, but morale was high.

Cathy Schwob prods her steed into action.

Biology teacher, Mr. Mercer, fails to understand the behavior of a donkey.

Coordinating Vice President, Clark Lagarius lends a serious note to the occasion.

Bonnie Marcus, Doug Percival, and Dan Lin add to the sensational sounds of the evening.

A successful activity needs the participation of the crowd.

Cheerleaders lead the audience in their show of spirit.

Assemblies

Initiating spirit, assemblies further involve students in the activities of the school. Students presented in each program receive recognition and support for those efforts which they put forth.

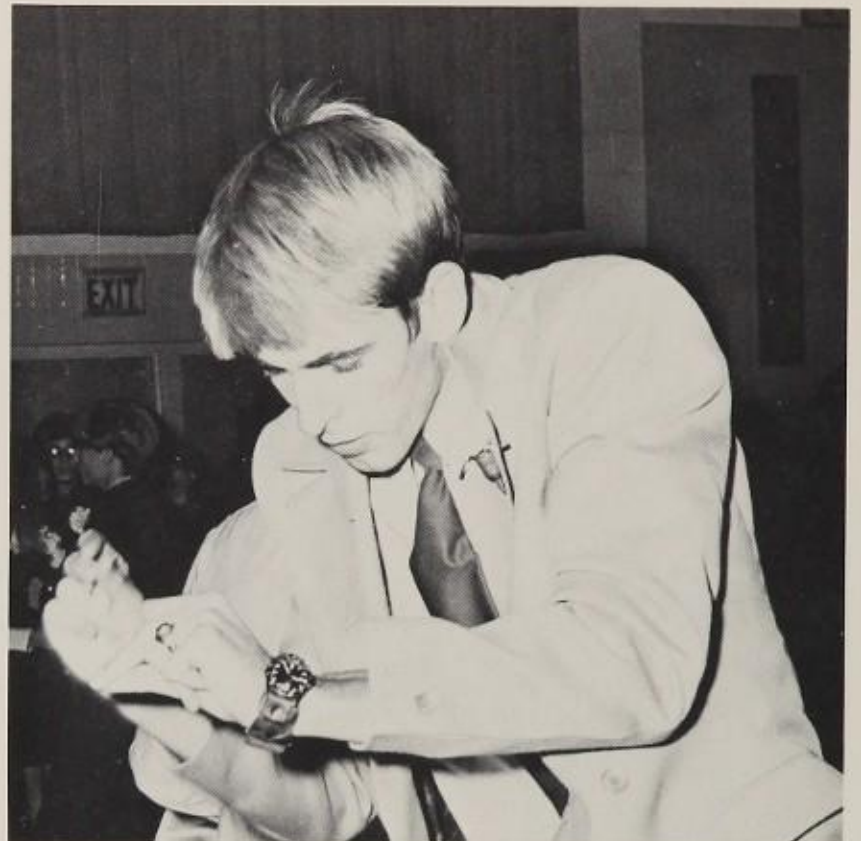

"And the band plays on..."

Rich Rosenblatt leads the evening's festivities.

Alumnus Dede St. Clair ponders over her past years at Springbrook.

A combination of great sounds and atmosphere make it easy to lose one's self in the music.

The rocking sounds of the Young Senators highlight this year's Homecoming Dance.

The Continental Rockers give the sophomores a swinging start at the Orientation Dance.

Dances

A special occasion — the appropriate band — disguising the school gym — student involvement; these are the vital elements of a successful dance. The energy and hard work of students before and during each dance makes each one worth remembering.

A break in the music leaves time to compare notes.

A smile, a gesture — sure signs of enjoyment from Meda Ling.

Clarence Sr. is annoyed with the request for a new suit by Clarence Jr.

Mrs. Day expresses her concern over her husband's refusal of baptism.

Life With Father

A tyrannical father — a spend-thrift mother — a lovestruck young man being teased by his younger brothers — young boys forever searching for a way to make money; Life With Father, although written and produced many years ago, is still relevant to today's audience. Working together through rehearsals and performances, the cast and production staff were able to provide enjoyment for the spectators and workers alike.

Triumph is expressed in the faces of the cast after a successful show.

Pop Concert

An annual event at Springbrook, the Pop Concert, draws a large crowd each year. While the audience relaxes with popcorn and soft drinks, served by the Keyettes, the music department is called on to provide the entertainment. The choral music department presented a cast of five choir students in excerpts from "The Fantasticks." The General Band, Orchestra, and Concert Band played various popular songs. Robert Jones, clarinet soloist, was featured in this department's excellent performance.

Narrator Mark Waldrop sings of two young lovers.

Sandy Merceron provides the musical background for "The Fantasticks."

Everyone gets into the act.

Girl's Honor Basketball

The girl's honor basketball team, coached by Mrs. Harrison, enjoyed an active and fairly successful season. Continuing their home winning streak, the girls overcame Woodward in the first game of the season. Although handicapped by illness, the enthusiasm and spirit of the players enabled the team to finish with a 3-3 record.

Donna and Sue provide some friendly competition.

Beth Sessoms and Nan Vial find that K.P. can be fun.

Mark Randall and Lynn Garten check students' responses to Spaghetti Dinner sign-up sheets.

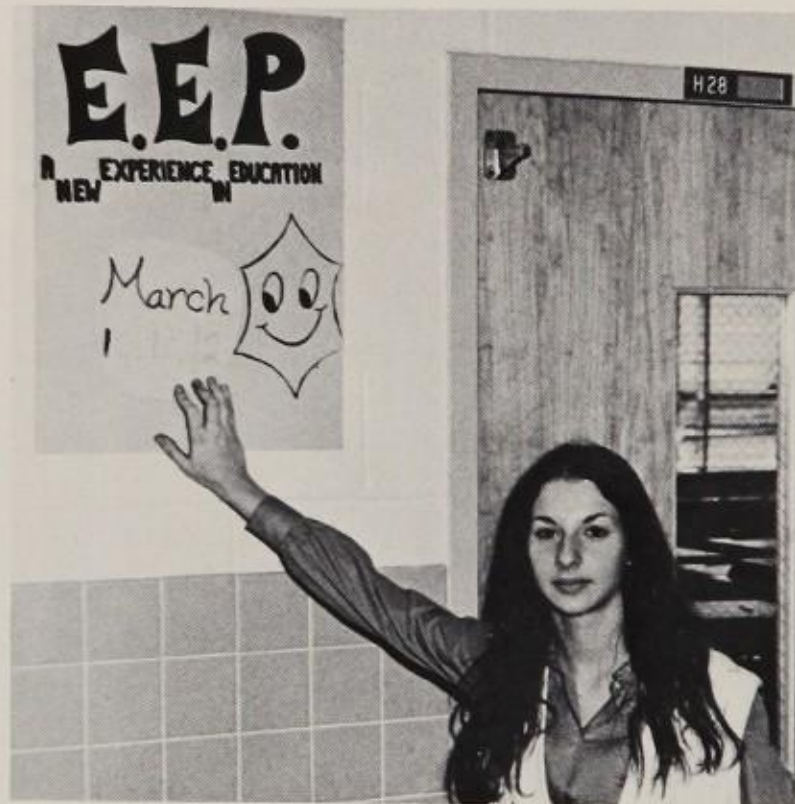

E.E.P. emerges from paperwork to reality through the united efforts of the students.

EEP

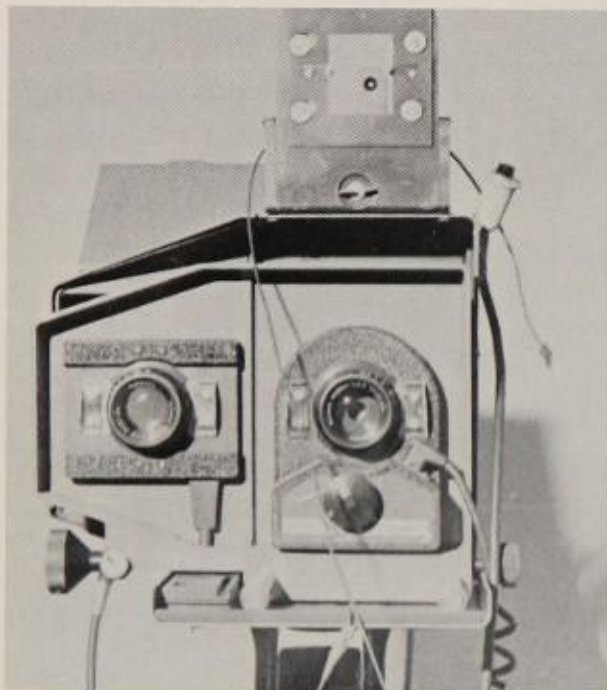

The Extended Educational Project, better known to the students as EEP, was the most innovative undertaking of the school year. Coordinated by Stephen Weber, Diana Hymowitz and Robin Crookshank, it was organized and carried out completely by students. EEP offered to students three days in which to take any desired courses, varying from a camping trip in the Blue Ridge Mountains to a two hour course in yoga. Indeed a program in progressive education, it can be said that both faculty and the student body profited from the program.

Robin Crookshank converts Mrs. Taylor's room into E.E.P. headquarters.

Photography 1 teaches the basics of taking and developing pictures.

E.E.P. provides opportunities for free expression in art.

Steve Weber instructs his co-workers as the time for E.E.P. draws near.

John Combs enjoys his oil painting course, even if it is a little messy.

The last few weeks before EEP involves the sorting of schedules and courses.

Yarn workshop involves many different skills, including embroidery, knitting, and needlepoint.

The Blue Ridge Mountains trip requires stamina and self-dependence.

One of EEP's most popular trips was to the Blue Ridge Mountains where senior Ronnie Kupersmith tries to catch 40 winks.

The course Experiments in Art proves to be a good introduction into the fundamentals of art.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Payne, Nancy Jenkins demonstrates the art of gourmet cooking.

Mr. Myers shows students the mechanics involved in a radio.

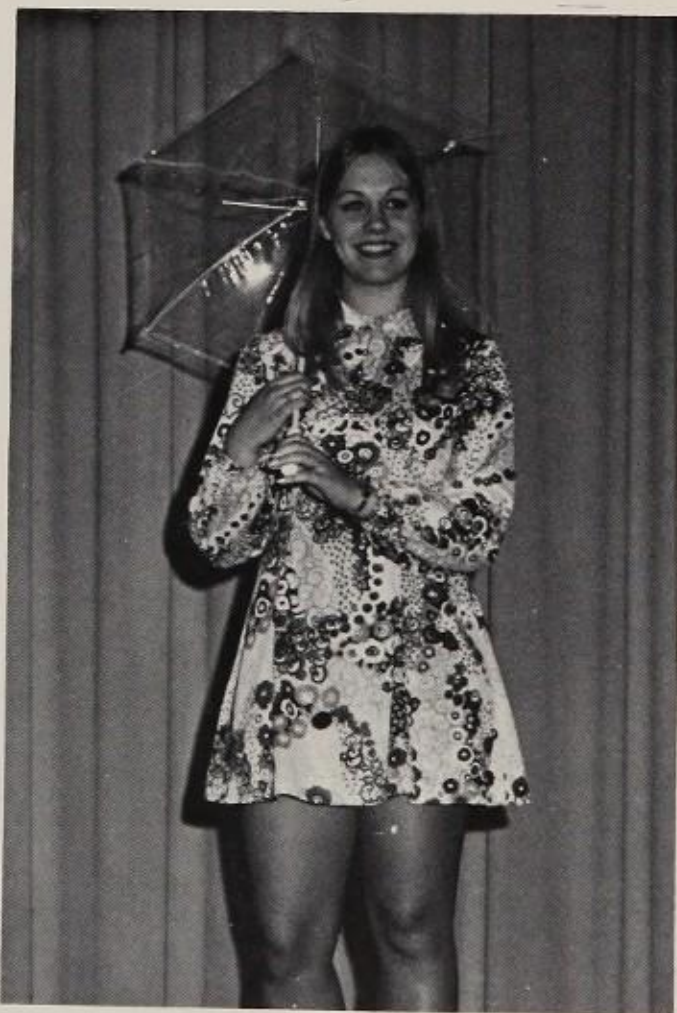

Diligence and cooperation of all involved made the Variety Show a success.

Variety Show

This year's Variety Show was entitled "Happy Days Are Here Again." Using a 1920's — '30's theme, the cast re-enacted scenes from half a century ago and related them to the present day. This comic comparison was accomplished through songs, dances, and skits. This successful venture was the result of many hours of hard work by student coordinators and participants.

Mr. Livengood and Cindy Haney give the Variety Show script a last minute going over.

Kathy Hurd adds sparkle to the production number "Pennies from Heaven."

Roz Cohen's effective portrayal of Fanny Brice added much to the Show.

The audiences at the Variety Show enjoyed various dance routines, including the Charleston.

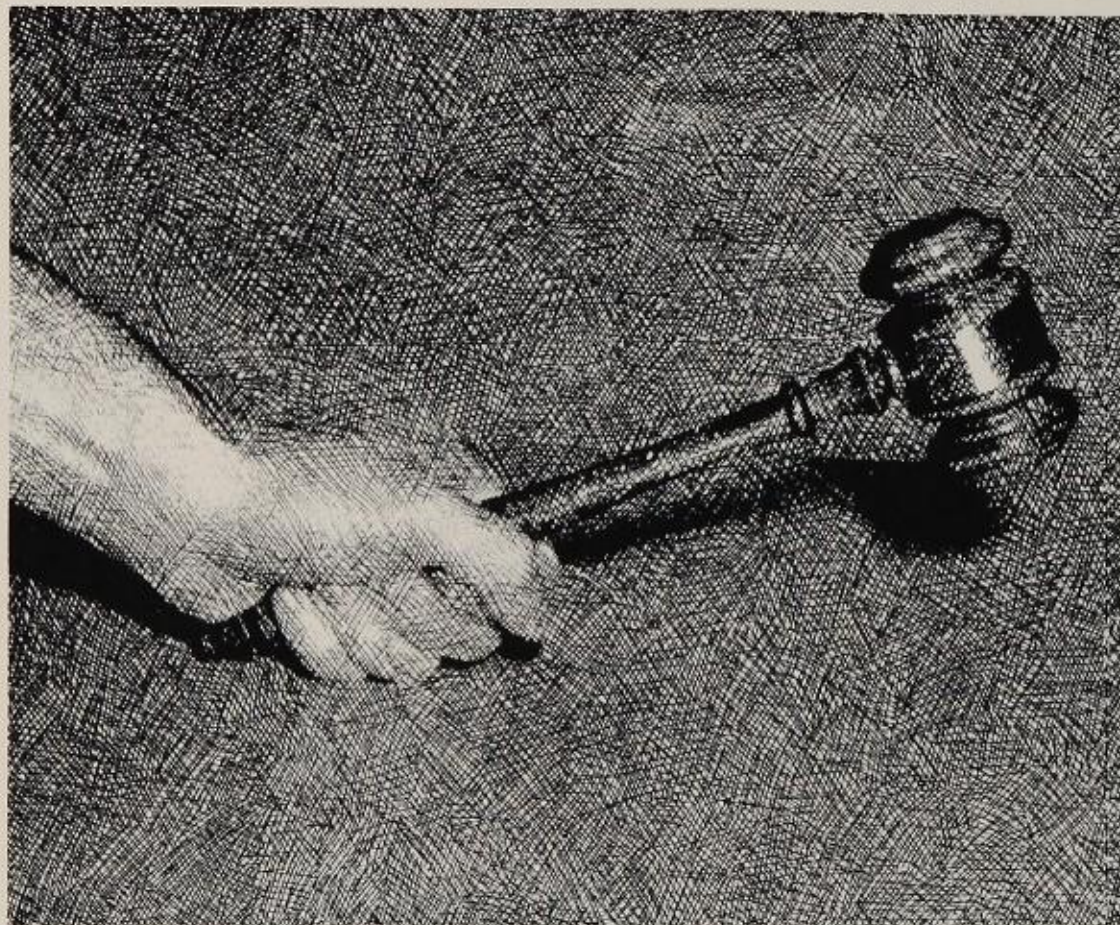

Busby Berkley Bubbling Babies finish rehearsing as the performance date draws near.

An exhausted couple struggles through the last few minutes of the dance marathon.

Denise Dolak fires up the audience with her torch song.

ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations

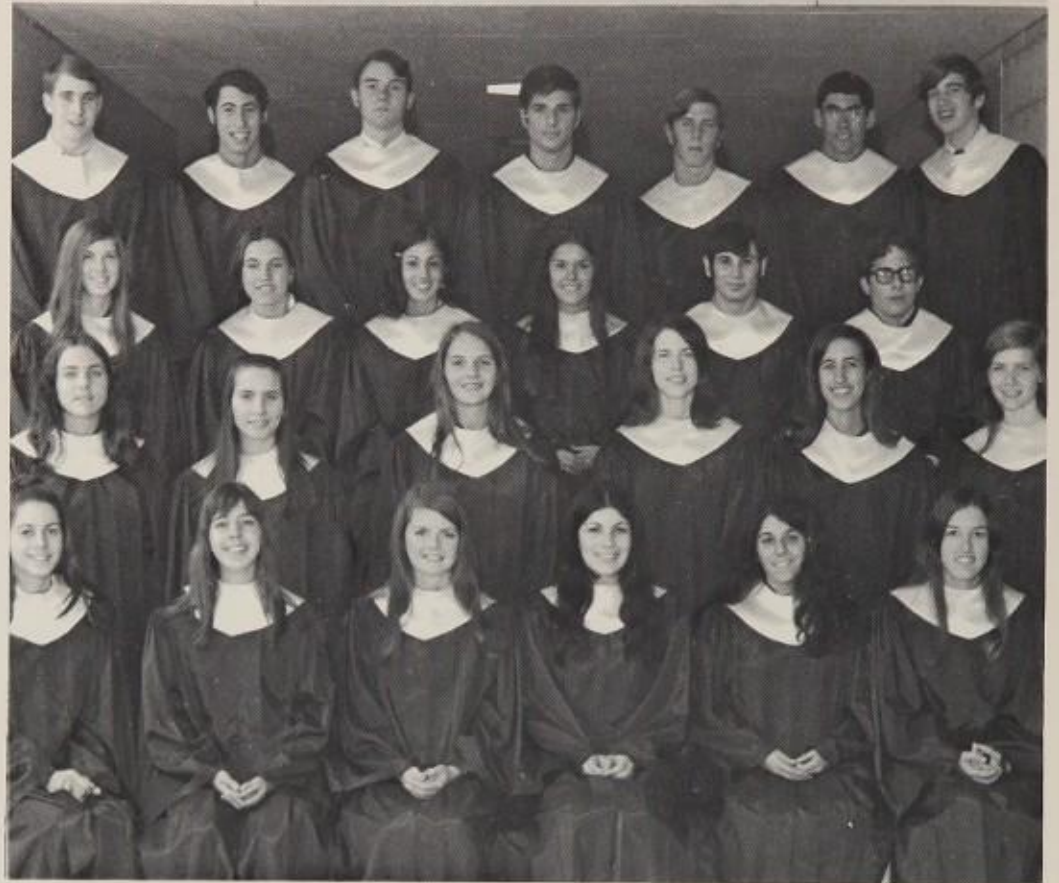

In striving towards a goal, the individual student realizes that his ideals can be furthered with a similar motivated group. Formal organizations allow for greater efficiency due to unified personal interests and greater imaginative resources. Under the leadership of elected officers, the members of the organization can achieve their desired goals.

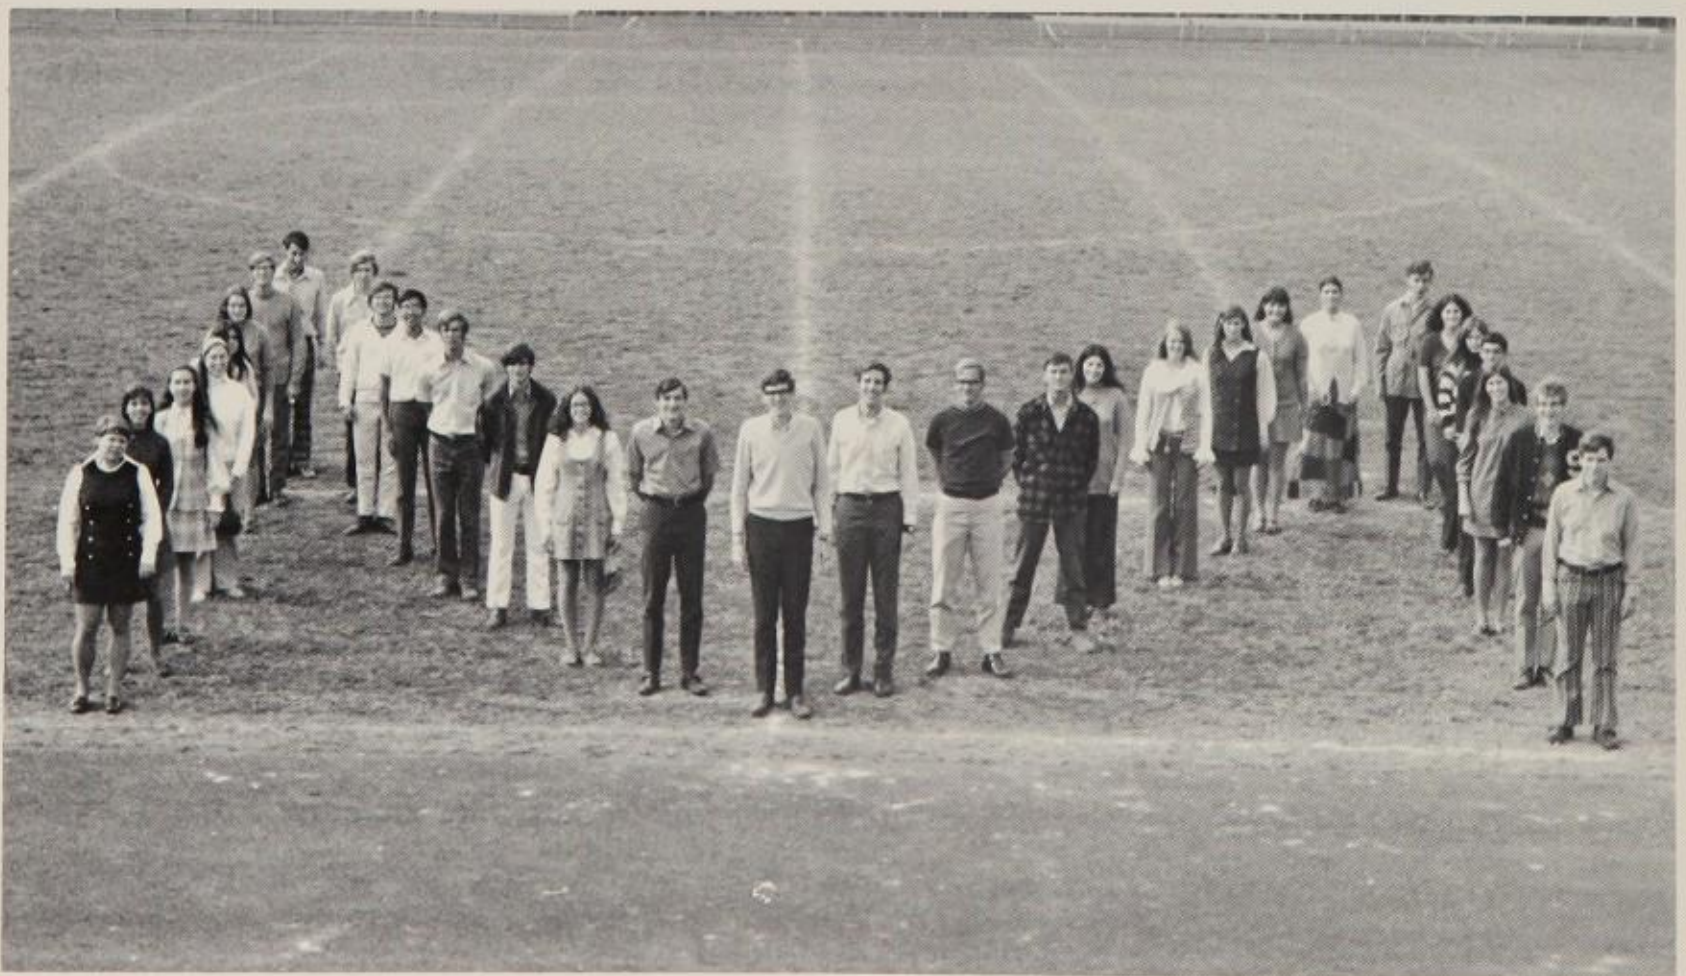

Honor

In the intense effort for self-improvement, individual students often excel. Whether as a member of Mu Alpha Theta, Tri-M, or National Honor Society, the student gains recognition in the mastery of a chosen field. Honor is extended to those of academic and artistic achievement. In these honor societies, the individuals are able to share their common interest; they are able to search and explore together.

A.F.S.

The American Field Service enables students from American high schools and from abroad to gain better understanding of one another while furthering friendship and cooperation between countries. This year, Springbrook's club is hosting one senior, Mitsuyo Hashimoto from Japan. Mitsuyo regards this year at Springbrook to be a unique experience. In addition to sponsoring a foreign exchange student, the A.F.S. has broadened its activities to include a study of the Women's Liberation Movement and an ecology project.

The purposes of the Student Government Association are to further the educational well-being of the students, to provide a forum for student opinion, and to help co-ordinate student activities.

An innovative educational program, the Extended Educational Project (EEP), was developed to expose students to different fields of learning. To further involve students in current political affairs, the S.G.A. sponsored a program in which the Governor and other prominent political figures spoke with the Springbrook community. These and other activities were initiated through the interests expressed by students in various opinion polls conducted throughout the year. In addition to these newly developed programs, the S.G.A. was also successful in sponsoring the annual Chicken Dinner, Alumni Tea, March of Dimes, and School Fair.

This year, the S.G.A. has been dedicated to the increased communication between students, faculty, and the community. This greater exchange of ideas has enabled the 1970-71 S.G.A. to successfully accomplish those goals which it set for itself.

Spirit

Whether at sports events or at pep assemblies, the cheerleaders, pom-pom girls, and majorettes lead the audience in a display of their school spirit. Their enthusiasm evokes from the crowds the moral support that each player needs, and the entertainment that they provide is enjoyed by every spectator. Although they practice diligently for hours, they find their reward in the excellence of the Springbrook teams.

Music

Music is a vital art form, which allows for the personal expression of the performer and the listener's individual interpretation of the music. The music students are taught the basic principles necessary to the full enjoyment for the music which they practice and perform. At each recital, the audience is given the benefit of a varied program that includes modern music as well as those pieces considered to be classical.

Blueprint

Springbrook's newspaper, the Blueprint, encourages students to freely exchange and share their various ideas. As a chronicle of student activities and a forum of opinions, the Blueprint enables each student to evaluate the many sides of the issues facing students today. In publishing this periodical, the staff experiences an education in the field of journalism.

Service

Students sharing a concern for others comprise the various service organizations of Springbrook. Working together in a common cause, these students begin to appreciate the valuable experience which they receive while aiding others. Their many hours of work are rewarded by the satisfaction derived from each project.

SPORTS

Sports

In each desperate movement towards the goal, in every resistance to an opposing force, in every sigh of relief at the closing play, the athlete extends himself in concerted effort. Acting not only as an individual participant but as a member of a team, the true athlete strives for his personal attainment, the satisfaction of his audience, and the glory of his school.

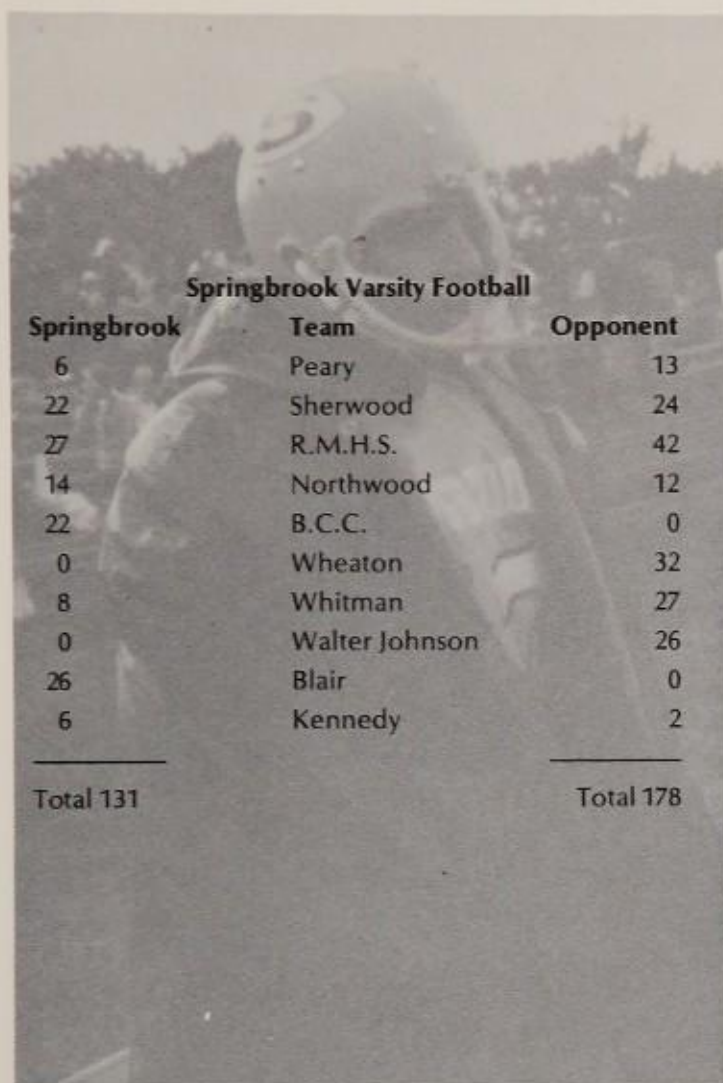

Varsity Football

Springbrook completed its 1970 football campaign with a record of four victories and six defeats. After two successful pre-season scrimmages, Springbrook ran into the highly spirited Peary Huskies. Although Springbrook played its best game of the season, Peary was not to be denied, winning in the final seconds, 13-6. Two games later, the Blue Devils put on their best offensive display of the year. Led by the rushing of senior fullback Ken Waters and the passing of senior quarterback Warren Hall, Springbrook scored 28 points against county co-champion Richard Montgomery. In the final weeks of the season, the defense regained its early season form. Rallying around seniors Joe Formhals, Bill Harmon, Brian Hanson, and Pete Reeves, the Big Blue shut out its final two opponents. Stopping the Kennedy Cavaliers on the one inch line in the final seconds brought to a close an exciting year.

J.V. Football

In their first year of inter-scholastic competition, the Junior Varsity displayed a unity usually visible only after many months of intensive teamwork. An awesome running attack led by team captains Steve Cannon and Andy Goss, combined with the excellent passing of John Hartsell, spearheaded the powerful offensive attack of the Baby Blue. Defensively, the J.V., anchored by Bruce Menditch and John Slater allowed opponents only 52 points. The members of the Junior Varsity, placing second in the county, look to bolster next year's Varsity ranks.

Soccer

Comprised mainly of underclassmen, Springbrook's soccer team gained valuable experience this year as they struggled to a 4-5-1 season record. The team made up for the lack of a full time coach with hustle, determination, and individual effort. Captains John Beacham and Wendell Oi expect this year's experience to pay off next year with a winning season.

Cross Country

Although cross country is one of the least attended sports at Springbrook, it is one that deserves respect and recognition. Springbrook's harriers put in long hours and miles of running throughout the summer. After a disappointing seventh in the county meet, the squad came back to finish a strong fifth in their division in the state meet with a team comprised mainly of underclassmen. Returning lettermen included captain Tom Powers, co-captain Howie Taylor, Jim Hecht, Dave Buzzel, and sophomore Cory Umbach, all of whom won ribbons or medals at the state meet. Next year's team looks to be a major contender for county and state honors.

Basketball

Under the masterful leadership of head coach John Barret, the Springbrook basketball team completely devastated the Montgomery County AA league in their drive for a state championship. Four first team all-county selections, Jim Schofield, Dave Faulkner, Victor Brick, and Pat Wray led an entire team effort in compiling the best record in the history of the school. The seventeen victories and two defeats earned Springbrook a number four ranking in the Metropolitan Area.

Pat Wray is forced to shoot from a distance because of an impregnable Whitman defense.

Varsity Wrestling

With Mickey Cooperman, the only remaining starter from the county championship squad of a year ago, Springbrook's wrestling team courageously sought their third straight championship. A basically inexperienced team benefited from the excellent coaching of Mr. John Henderson and Mr. Bob Tucker.

Outstanding individual performances were turned in by Mickey Cooperman and Dave Jensen. Mickey finished the dual meet season with a perfect 11-0 records, and four straight victories and a championship in the county tournament, and a second place in both the district and state tournaments. Dave had a strong 8-2-2 record in dual meet competition and finished third in the county tournament.

Mickey Cooperman receives the Monicera Award given to the highest scoring senior.

J.V. Wrestling

The Junior Varsity wrestling squad, composed of hard working and dedicated wrestlers, compiled a 4-4 season record. These wrestlers gained valuable experience which will be a great asset to next years Varsity line-up.

Track

Track is competition in its purest form. The concepts of man against man, man against clock and man against the yardstick combine to make track an exciting and demanding sport. Long hard hours of practice and determined individual effort, made the 1971 track season a successful one.

As he nears the finish line, Bill Emerson receives encouragement from his teammates.

Baseball

Under a new head coach, Mr. Jack Keller, the Springbrook baseball teams began practice in the cold and rain of March. Led by the play of three-year letterman John Cunningham and the experience of other players returning from last year, the baseball teams had an exciting and successful season.

Catcher Bill Lartz and Tim Jordan warm-up before the Wheaton game.

Shortstop Bill Koustenis pulls in a line drive against R.M.H.S.

ecke, K. Gould, A. Goss. 3rd row: D. Irons, R. Haines, G. Shade, S. Bowers, A. Frye.

Andy Goss picks a low inside pitch out of the dirt.

First baseman Dennis Jansen lunges for the ball to put out Bill Koustenis.

Tom Kennedy practices teeing off, keeping his head down and his eye on the ball.

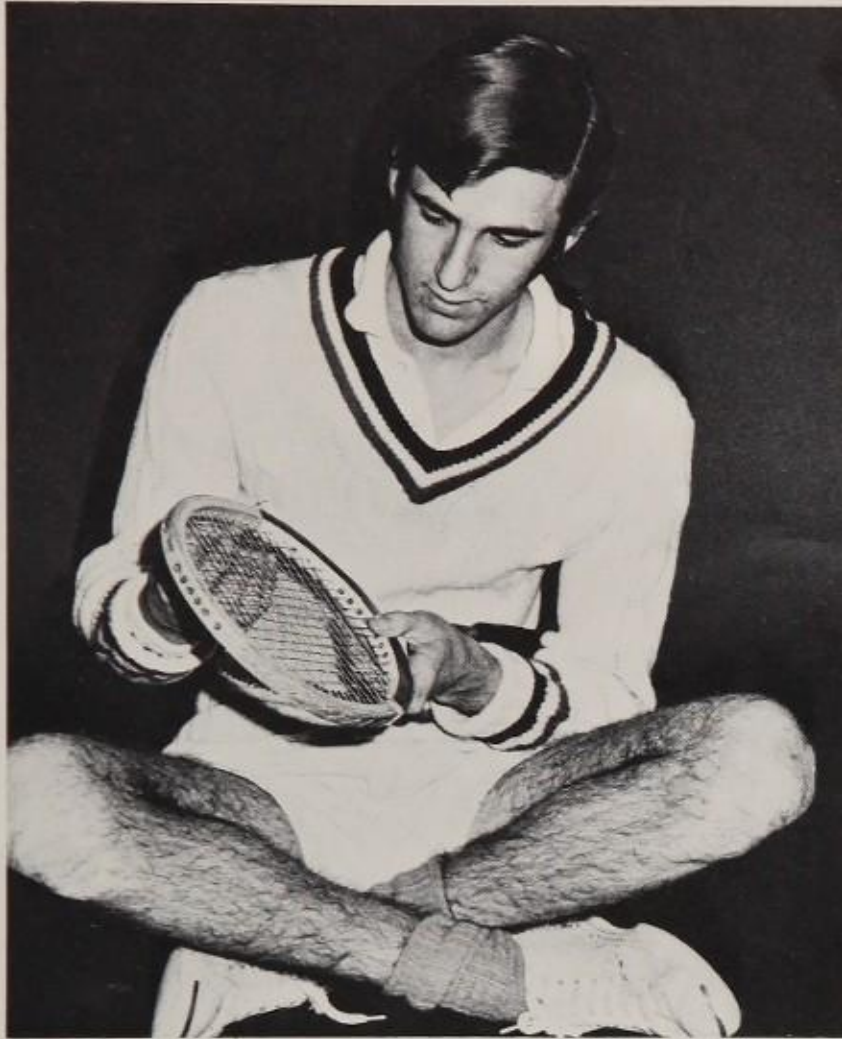

Golf

One of the individual sports open to students in the spring, golf provides the opportunity to experience competition and relaxation at the same time.

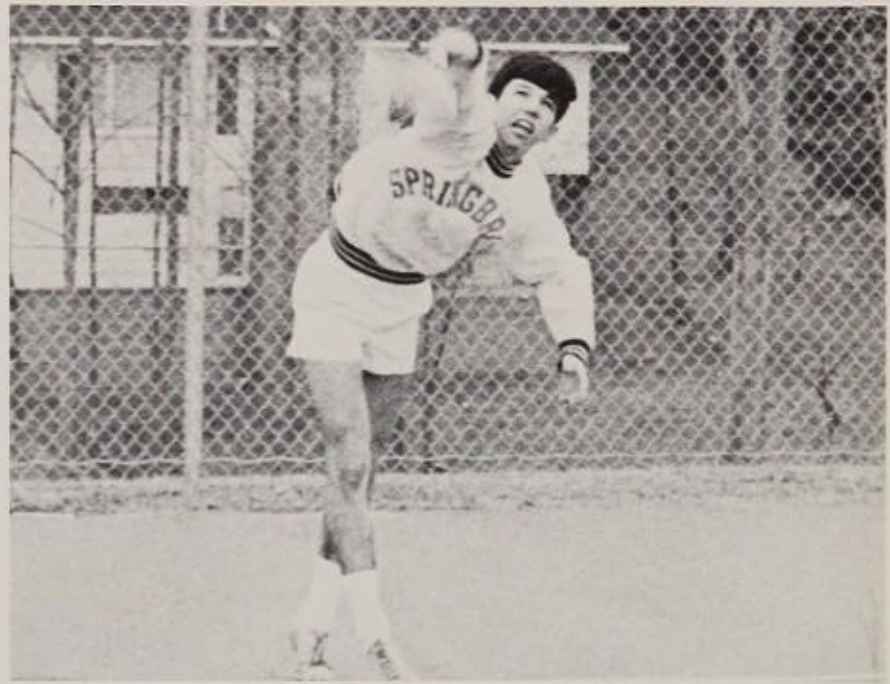

Golf Team l t r: T. Kennedy, C. Ward, T. Boyle, Mr. Penn, T. St. Claire, M. Giles.

Tennis

Bob Alpert carefully checks to see if his racket has the proper tension.

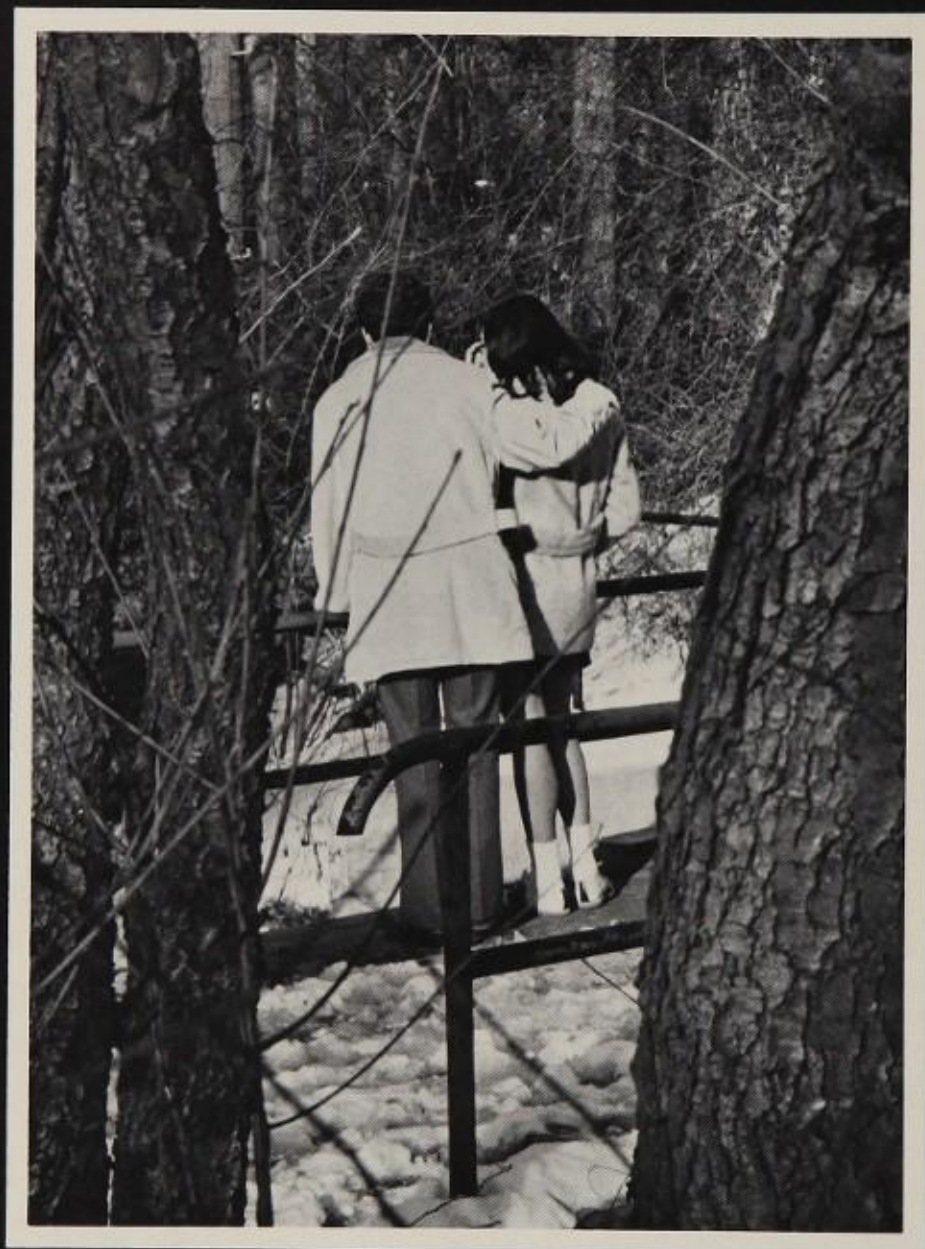

Bruce Gardner practices the delivery of his serves.

Graduates

As they approach the conclusion of their high school career, seniors begin to recognize the value of the vast quantity of knowledge they have acquired in a relatively short time. This time has also been one of maturing: learning to offer oneself as a friend, getting involved in activities, being exposed to new ideas, and enjoying the atmosphere in which these experiences are to be found. Because of their exposure to these episodes of life, the seniors find themselves prepared to advance their ideals either by furthering their education or by applying that which they have already learned.

TRIDENT 1971

The individuals recognized on this page have labored for hundreds of hours this past school year in order to create the 1971 TRIDENT. Although there were shortages of photographs, and endless disagreements, the staff was able to combine the available materials in such a manner as to form not only a yearbook, but a message for each reader. In compiling this book, the staff has learned to extend themselves to one another, to lend a hand to fellow workers in need. It is our hope that the 1971 TRIDENT will serve to inspire cooperation between people as well as to recall memories of a school year past.

Alone

But as one who knows not of failure

Extending to the uppermost reaches

Striving to achieve the impossible

Discovering things not yet known

Learning wonders not revealed to most

Venturing into the unknown with an awareness

Of new horizons

Of understanding

Of peace, and love, and
